State OKs district request for $50 million in bond proposals

By THEODORE G. COUTILISH ANP News Editor

State school officials have of $50 million, on the Nov. 6

tion, sent a letter notifying district Superintendent William Bedell last week of his approval of the ballot proposals.

Bedell said the proposals, one for technological and site improvements and the other for a swimming pool complex, will launch the school district into the 21st century

"If the voters approve these proposals, our school buildings will be equipped to handle whatever comes our way in the cleared the path for Romulus future," Bedell said. "In five Community Schools to plant years, we're going to be world two bond proposals, in excess famous for teaching kids things they don't in other schools."

The first bond proposal asks Donald L. Bemis, state su- for more than $45 million, but perintendent of public instruc- none of the additional money would increase local taxes. The extra money would come from a refinancing plan extending current loans the school district owes into 2001. 'Taxes would stay exactly as they are if the proposal is approved," Bedell said. "It's like refinancing a car loan or home loan for a longer period of

The proposal also asks for money to train teachers on the used would be fiber optic, new equipment, beef up the library departments of the schools and install new floor coverings and new heating units in some of the buildings.

"This would upgrade our school buildings to where they should be at," Bedell said.

Under the second bond proposal, the schools are asking for $5 million of taxpayers' money for the construction of a swimming pool complex with public access. If approved, the proposal would cost each taxpayer between $20 to $30.

The complex would feature an Olympic-sized pool, separate showers and a diving area. It is not known at this time what school building would house the

"There's a kind of a controversy over it," Bedell said. 'One side says it should be at the high school, where the competition is at. Another school of thought says it should be at the junior high school, where students need to learn how to swim and where senior high students can be bused to and from.

"But that's a bridge we will have to cross when we get to it. The main thing now is to tell the people about the proposals and hopefully let them decide whether they want their children to advance into the 21st century with modern educational technology.'

Ready to roll Plan to revitalize downtown district

By THEODORE G. COUTILISH ANP News Editor

City Council unanimously approved a plan Tuesday to transform downtown Romulus from a "marginal neighborhood shopping center into a viable part of the community."

With the creation of the Tax Increment Finance Plan, the Dowtown Development Authority will now have the financial muscle needed to make noticeable public improvements in an overlooked area, according to Dennis Oakes, community development director.

'If you think about downtown Romulus, you don't have to think for very long," Oakes said. "We want to make it a greater part of the community, and this plan allows us to do that for a minor investment." The plan, which mainly targets road, sewer and parking improvements, includes raising nearly $3.2 million during a 20-year period. The money will be taken from increased tax revenues generated by site improvements and commercial developments.

"We're hoping by increasing the parking, roads and sewers and such that it will spur commerce in downtown," Councilman Noah Bergeron said. "People are buying into the mega-mall theory. Hopefully, we can attract specialty companies into that area which would help promote more commerce. That could be our

Back in 1987, the Romulus

Community Schools started the Partnership for Education program in hopes of attracting a few area businesses. Today, the program highlights the services and resources of more than 75 companies in Romulus, ranging from General Motors Corp. to Aztec Manufacturing Inc. to Edgar Tool and Die Co. "It's been well-received in the community and a highlysuccessful program," program coordinator Edward Clark said. "Never before has business been given this opportunity to have input into the education and training of future employees."

The program includes three parts · "Making our best even better," As a dropout prevention program at Romulus Senior High, it's geared toward ninth-graders. "Sucess begins with me." Through incentives such as pizza parties, trophies and medals, students at the junior high level are awarded for good attendance, behavior and academics.

• "Expect the best." This covers the program elementary schools and helps develop self-esteem and teaches young students to believe they can better themselves.

In addition, business representatives meet with school officials each month to discuss ways to excite young people about education.

One of the original purposes of the program was to reduce together."

the dropout problem. Solutions have included peer support systems and incentives to stay in school.

More importantly, the program now attempts to educate students on what skills are expected by employers when they enter the workforce.

"It used to be you didn't need an education," Clark said. You could go work in a factory. All you needed was a strong back. You didn't need reading skills. Things are different today.

Not only are math and reading skills vital to success in the workplace, but so are all around skills, Clark said.

"In the past, education has not produced well-educated students," he said. "The businesses say you have been sending us people who can't read. Why would you put a man on a $500,000 machine if he can't read?"

The program isn't limited to students, either.

"Teachers also have to be adequately prepared for new techniques," Clark said. "We try and accomplish this through staff exchanges and tours to the individual businesses."

William Bedell, superintendent of schools, said the program makes for an unusual opportunity because 75 percent of the tax base in Romulus is industrial or commercial.

The schools receive a lot of criticism for graduating students who are out of touch with what business expects," he said. "This program gives the opportunity for school and business to share their ideas

Pair charged with attempted car theft

Antonio Earnest, 19, and Charles Thomas, 18, were charged during an arraignment in 34th District Court in Romulus

Bail was set at $10,000 bond. The pair was arrested early Friday morning after a chase with the owner of the car, Robert Cole, and police.

Detective Lt. Kenneth Krause said Cole was awakened after hearing some noise outside of his apartment At about 1:10 a.m. Cole looked out of his window and saw his 1984 Pontiac Fiero being backed out of its parking space, which is directly in front of his apartment, Krause said.

'His wife called the police while he immediately began chasing the car while driving his other car," Krause said.

A patrol car in the area caught up to both cars near Palmer Road on Wayne Road when the two suspects lost control of the Fiero, spun out and slammed against a curb, Krause said.

Both were arrested without incident, and neither was reported hurt in the accident.

Teachers fight contract in court

By PATRICIA BROWN ANP Staff Writer

Officials from the Wayne-Westland Education Association were in court Tuesday afternoon to file an injunction against the school district.

The union doesn't agree that teachers are working under the same contract as last year.

Wayne-Westland teachers voted to return to school Aug. 27 rather than going on strike.

"We're going to court to ask the judge to force the board to follow last year's contract,' said Bill Reece, union president.

The discrepancy, union officials said, involves changes that have been made to accomodate program cuts. When district officials eliminated two-thirds of the expressive arts program, they also eliminated two-thirds of an elementary teacher's planning period, union leaders said.

Elementary school teachers in the district received two hours of planning time each week last year, but now they have 40-minutes, Reece said.

Instead of having physical education, music and art every week, elementary students only have one of the 40-minute programs.

"The elementary school teachers are in bad shape," he said.

School officials don't think the contract is being violated. If the court does rule in favor of

Tournament is a turkey for bowler

By THEODORE G. COUTILISH ANP News Editor

Linda Keeton's bowling trip began sailing in the gutter on her way over to Las Vegas.

Depending on who you talk to, it never left.

Keeton, 32, of Romulus, has her own version of what happened after she won a free trip, including airfare and hotel accommodations, to represent a Taylor-based bowling alley at the Star Traxx bowling tournament in Las Vegas.

From the minute she got on the airplane Aug. 18, Keeton knew she was in for a miserable time. "If this was supposed to be a professional tournament, then how come there was so much mass confusion on the plane?" she said. "Nobody knew what was going on. We had no direction at all. You had to keep asking other people on the plane and that's how you got your information. It was a big disappointment.

Things only got worse after the plane landed for Keeton. She had to wait four hours to find the tournament sponsor, Richard Haas, the president of Star Traxx, so she could get into her room.

What's worse, she said she never received a copy of the tournament rules, which state participants must use a Star Traxx bowling ball.

Haas tells a different story. He said Keeton was a last minute replacement, came a day earlier than she was supposed to and did not stop complaining.

To comfort her, he let her borrow a promotional Star Traxx bowling ball, providing she pay $20 for the drilling. She did. But when she wanted to take the ball home after the tournament, he said he had enough.

"The girl is spastic," he said. "She gave me nothing but headaches from the time she got here. I feel bad for her but she did nothing but cry.

As for the ball, Keeton said it should be her's because Haas promised it to her and she had paid for the drilling. "At the plane, Mr. Haas told me it was stolen and then laughed," she said. "I don't think he was very funny.

Haas said he never said anything of the kind and to smooth over any ill feeling, he had sent her a nondrilled Star Traxx bowling ball.

"For no good reason, we gave her a bowling ball that everyone has had to pay between $70 to $120 to buy for the tournament," he said. "We don't want any bad publicity.

Recruiting cartoon characters is the latest attempt of crime enforcement agencies to reach children and teen-agers in the war against peer pressure, according to officer John Smagner, who was in costume as McGruff.

"Kids respond well to the popular characters they see on television," he said. "We told them to take a bite out of crime in doing their part by not going with strangers, staying away from drugs and locking up their bikes.

The program started with McGruff riding around the subdivision on top of a fire truck. The truck, with blaring horns and flashing lights, attracted parents and children alike. When the truck stopped, McGruff was greeted by the crowd with handshakes and occasional high-fives.

It was apparent the crimefighting dog got his message

A sampling of responses:

• "He tells you not to take drugs because they jeapoardize your life, friends and family." - Chris Jenkins, 13.

 "He said drugs can waste your life. They can kill you." -Kellee Ripple, 8.

· "Drugs can you hurt you good." - Chris Moore, 10.

· "He told us to say no to drugs because they can mess up your life."-Coreil Quick, 11.

Inside the community room, officer Terri Koski spoke on drug prevention and played the video tapes.

In the first tape, Yogi Bear and the Flinstones rapped out drug prevention songs. The second tape featured a who's who of past and present animated characters including Daffy Duck, Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles, Kermit the frog, Miss Piggy, Bugs Bunny, Slime from the Ghostbusters, the Chipmunks, Garfield, the Smurfs and Winnie the Pooh.

The drug awareness program is an offshoot of a similar program started three years ago under the mayor's Drug Task Force. The new program has been staged at Oakbrook Townhouse, the Coleman Center and Hale Creek, Cory, Merriman and Mt. Pleasant elementary schools.

At Wellesley, the program was sponsored by the Positive Youth Group, an organization of neighborhood mothers with a goal of providing positive role models to children.

"Drug awareness is the real theme of our program today, said Cynthia McMillen, a nice community. We want to founder of the group. "Romulus has a stigma of not being a change that."

Driving through Westland will be a little more difficult by the end of this month. City officials approved approximately $1 million in road resurfacing funds.

'We'll be starting in the next couple of weeks, and we just want to let people know that there will be tie-ups," said Richard Dittmar, director of the department of public ser-

Westland resurfacing may cause traffic jams

Roads scheduled to undergo resurfacing include: Palmer Road from Henry Ruff to Wildwood; all of the major roads south of Ford Road from Carlson to Linville; and all major roads north of Ford Road between Radcliffe and Venoy.

Part of the funding for the road improvements came from community development funds, according to Dittmar.

Community development money can only be used for local roads which have been targeted for improvement. "I was under the impression that (community development) money could only be used for those roads that are in the targeted area," said Mildred Evans, Westland resident.

Approximately $80,000 is coming out of the community development fund, according to Dittmar, to cover the cost of resurfacing roads in Norwayne - a targeted area.

15 percent of ballots are disqualified, officials say

By TOM MOORADIAN ANP Staff Writer

A small cadre of voters goes to the polls each election day never realizing their ballot will not be counted.

The vote is disqualified because of voter error.

And when you consider some elections, such as the recent one for a board seat in the Inkster school district, are decided by less than five votes, the spoiled ballot can play a decisive role in an election.

More than 800 Wayne County votes were tossed out in the Aug. 6 primary election because careless voters failed to carefully read the instructions.

In a primary, where the election is usually partisan, voters must nominate candidates from one party to run against an opposing party in the general election. The vote is usually spoiled "because the voter crossed-over," according to James R. Killeen, Wayne County clerk.

"We estimate 15 percent of the ballots cast in any given election is spoiled because of voter error," Killeen said.
"And when you consider the closeness of some of the elections, the errors may knock out a lot of candidates and put people into office who normally wouldn't be there.'

Killeen also noted there is available to give "a running tally of the election count and create a paper trail so that election registered voters, 6,996 ballots officials can go back and pinpoint any problems.'

City Clerk Diane Rohraff said "cross-over" voting during primary elections is probably the major cause for a voter's ballot being disqualified in Westland.

"Even though we stress, and the media usually plays up the information as an election approaches, there are those who don't get the message,'

Equally disturbing was the percentage of registered voters who do not take time to cast ballots, Rohraff said. In Westland, there was a 14.4 percent voter turnout for the August primary. Of the 48,472 were cast.

'And some of those were absentee ballots - voter apathy usually is a problem in a primary where there are no tax increases or controversial issues on the ballot," Rohraff said.

William Richards, Wayne city clerk, said the spoiled ballot was "not really a problem

"Most of that information is recorded in the poll book and forwarded to the county clerk," Richards said. "If there was a problem, I am sure I would have been made aware of it. I don't think we have that problem.'

Youth's story strikes a cord

The story of a seven-year-old English boy, who has a brain tumor, has touched the heart of a Belleville city employee, who has joined a group of people who are cheering the boy by sending him get well cards.

Belleville City Clerk Agnes Frisch heard about Craig Shergold's hope to make the Guinness Book of Records by receiving the largest number of get well cards ever received by an individual, and has responded by passing his name and address along to others.

His address is: Craig Shergold, 36 Shelby, Carlshalton, Surrey England, SNB 1LD.

Individuals who would be interested in adding their names to the list of card-givers, may obtain information about the project from Frisch or The Enterprise editor.

Papers awarded

Associated Newspapers, Inc. has been awarded a Small Michigan Plaque by Keep Michigan Beautiful, Inc. in recognition of environmental coverage.

The KMB awards, presented annually, are designed to encourage support of the environment and all local beautification efforts. Associated Newspapers efforts to provide accurate and complete information regarding the solid-waste issue, recycling efforts and the role of residents are considered positive traits by KMB. "We are very pleased to accept the award, and to receive recognition for efforts which we truly care about,' said Associated Newspapers Managing Editor Barbara

The plaque, the first to go to a privately-owned media, will be presented at an awards ceremony Oct. 24 in Lansing.

Area farmers prepare for harvest, quality of crops is uncertain

Wayne County will be judged in the next few weeks as a disappointment or a success for area growers.

Apples, pumpkins and sweet corn are the major crops in the Empire and Mutsu will have a high yield per acre, he said.

Overall, the fruit crop is down among the eight to 13 apple growers in the country.

The major culprit of the smaller apple crop was the cool weather during the early part of the summer.

Cool weather and rain have also damaged some of the pumpkin crop in the area, caus-

such as Golden Delicious, some of the pumpkins, Thorton

Some farms were hit pretty hard, according to Thorton, depending on whether farmers use pesticides on their crops.

"Depending on each farmer, between 10 to 60 percent of the pumpkin crop was destroyed,' Thorton said.

This information didn't disapoint Linda LeBlanc, a Belleville pumpkin farmer, who planted 43 acres this year.

"My pumpkin crop is doing well in spite of the rainfall, LeBlanc said.

She said fungus damaged two of her fields, approximately 10 acres.

It's "hit or miss," LeBlanc said, noting that not all the pumpkins in these two fields are diseased.

She expects to harvest her pumpkins starting Sept. 25, and will open her farm, the "Pumpkin Factory," to the public.

Currently, the pumpkins in her patch are turning orange and are growing larger.

The 1,300 acres of sweet corn in Wayne County has had a good harvest and is of good quality, according to Thorton.

"I WANTED TO BE AN ACCOUNTANT AND CLEARY COLLEGE HELPED ME GET THERE"

Verna Flynn, Patents Department, Warner Lambert Parke-Davis

Before I came to Cleary in 1986, I already knew that I wanted to be an accountant in a government setting, specializing in taxation. Cleary not only provided the academic path to that degree but also helped with a chance for me to be involved personally in my chosen field. With the encouragement of Cleary's faculty, I applied for a student internship with Senator Donald Riegle. To apply, I had to write essays in response to three questions, and propose legislation to deal with an important issue. "The internship was a wonderful opportunity and the exposure I received was extremely valuable. The experience I received reinforces my ambition even further. I cannot imagine another college that could have given me the same academic and practical exposure as

"Enrolling in Cleary College was a positive and rewarding experience.

Call the Admissions Office at Cleary College for information about programs in today's fastest-growing fields: Accounting, Business Computer Systems, Management, Marketing, Business Office Systems and Allied Health. Classes begin September 19.

Does your vote really count?

In our form of government sayings such as "your vote counts" and the "majority rules" are blasted into our brains at election time.

But in many cases, these sayings do not ring true. The Wayne County clerk estimates that 15 percent of the ballots cast in any given election are spoiled because of voter

In close elections, this type of margin could have a profound effect on the outcome.

The spoiled ballots can be blamed on insufficient voter education and on the failure of voters to read and understand the instructions that are available.

Primary election votes are affected more so because of the complexity of the process, election officials say.

By crossing party lines on a primary election ballot, the vote must be thrown out. With so many ballots being disqualified, "every" vote does not count, and in some cases the majority may not be heard. Several races were quite close in the August primary. The outcomes could have been different had all votes counted. In this respect the spirit of the election system is violated.

Some states have limited, and to some extent eliminated, this ballot spoilage by introducing a high-tech voter system. Voters cast ballots at a computer terminal which tells them when they make an error.

Most city clerks and the county clerk believe this system is needed to ease the problem. Another problem, however, is that individual cities are responsible for funding the purchase of election machines. Many cities do not have the financial means to accept this expense.

A possible interim solution to the problem may be the availability of election instructions. Thorough explanations of the machines and the voters' role must be made available prior to election day, as well as at the polls.

Teacher complaints are unreasonable

Negotiations are great.

Two parties or entities meet to discuss differences. Compromises are made. Agreements are reached. And business goes on as usual.

This area also knows the significance of union bargaining, and the power of such units.

Few bargaining units have the same power and unfluence as that representing teachers in Michigan.

They are mighty, and carry threats which can affect the educational process of our youngsters. It seems the Wayne-Westland school district is on the cri-cal list. Failed millage elections have resulted in major cuts to programs and in the length of the school day.

Wayne-Westland teachers were gracious enough to begin the school year on schedule, despite the fact that a contract had not been negotiated.

Now, however, it seems a brick wall has been approached and school administrators see no clear exit. Teachers are crying for more money (an understandable

They are also wailing because they have lost precious class preparation time. C'mon guys. Get a grip.

Teachers work approximately seven hours a day, five days a week, nine months a year. For an individual who considered a "professional" that does not appear to be a grueling schedule.

Any professional - whether it be an accountant, a lawyer, a nurse, a reporter, an editor or anything else - is expected to prepare for work outside of hours alotted during the actual work day. They may have to read the newspaper or trade journals, write memos, clean their desk, take telephone calls, or any other post-work activity. It is in their best interest to do things, because doing them will make them better at their jobs, and therefore give them satisfaction.

Teachers, of course, are presented with quite a challenge. They should be admired, and they should be rewarded for their hard work.

But they should not be "babied".

Officials should stand tall on this one, or we should all go to our bosses and ask for a "planning period".

Softball needs attention

Approximately one year ago, I wrote a letter that expressed my concerns of the state of the girls' softball program in the city of Wayne. Please allow me a few moments to update the situation.

A Parents Advisory Committee was formed by Mr. Jeffrey Rutter, Recreation Supervisor, and during the year, we have made definite designs geared at improving the program. Mr. Rutter's implementation of softball into the after-school recreation program will also expose the game to the kids at a younger age, and hopefully keep them involved in the future.

In closing, I would like to thank the Parents Advisory Committee, the coaches, Mrs. Pat Bledsoe, and Mr. Jeffrey Rutter for their continued support and commitment to the program, and urge interested parents and local businesses to get involved. All that's required is a little of your time, and these young ladies are worth the effort!

Gilbert J. Cox Wayne

Heroes merit attention

I'm writing you about what I call two young heroes, and I'm sure our neighbors would feel the same way.

They also pick up another boy who does not have a car. Anyway, the boys were all at our house when they noticed smoke, they looked outside and seen Sean's mother running over to tell Sean his car was on fire. While his mother Kathy Banks was getting Sean, Holly was calling 911 and giving them all the information about where the car was, her address and whatever else they required. Sean ran to his yard knowing he had to do something, so he told his mom to move her truck out of the yard, and ran over to the neighbor's house and told Kathy Rici his car was on fire and to get the small children out of the house in case the car blew up. Meanwhile, the car was shooting flames from everywhere. The front tires exploded, but the fire trucks got there before the fire made it to the gas tank and put the flames out. I guess a loose wire started the fire. This was his first car, and it was a mess. Although he lost his car, Sean was just thankful no one was hurt. I feel bad for Sean, I know it will be sometime before he will get another car, but I am also proud of him and Holly for

Look forward to the '90's

What's going on right now with Wayne? We could have a great city, and let the people of Wayne who vote have more freedom. Let's stop thinking of the years gone past and think of the 90s. All I have seen here in Wayne is a new City Hall and a new court house. Are we going downhill? I think Wayne is a pretty town. We need to say the repair work that's going on opportunity to work with your for some of our city roads. I'd sons and daughters. I certainly like to know what the center of will miss you all. Wayne will be looking like from now on. So please, Mayor Norton, give the people our wish. We need some new blood in City Hall. I think Wayne is still a great place to live. I am so proud of Wayne, and our Wayne Eagle should tell more about our city in their paper.

My career began in 1968 at Stevenson Junior High when it first opened. As a fledgling young math teacher, I began a very special relationship with the people of this community.

Throughout the years I have been blessed with the opportuniy to teach and work with many wonderful people. I've been able to share in the joys of their great accomplishments as well as their moments of sadness.

As I leave, I cannot help but feel a loss. I recall the former students who have grown into adulthood, the enthusiasm of the current students and hope that I've been a positive influence for the students throughout my years of service.

Community garden harvest

By PATRICIA BROWN ANP Staff Writer

Most people aren't aware that in a small corner of Westland lies the largest community garden in the world.

This year, we regained the Guinness world record," said Frank Rembisz, director of the Wayne County Department of

Located on the Eloise property, the garden is maintained by senior citizens from the area. Each year county officials divide the land into 50-foot square parcels. Each senior who participates receives seedlings from the county too.

"They plant thousands of seeds. Not only are the seniors gardening, but many of them have their children and grandchildren working on their garden," Rembisz said.

"If they desire to make it a family affair then we're very supportive of that," he said.

for a new Ford tractor to help keep up the gardens, he said.

Before seniors begin working in their garden the land is plowed. There is also a waterhine running out to the plots, to make it easier for the seniors to water their gardens.

This year, the gardens are looking the best Rembisz has ever seen them. He attributes this to the help received from the General Motors Job Bank employees who have been keeping up the gardens.

"The gardens have never This year Wayne County paid looked as good as they do this year. The people from the job bank have done a fantastic 'job," he said.

On Aug. 23, the annual Harvest Festival was staged to allow gardeners an opportunity to show off their harvest.

Rembisz credits the success of the community garden to the man who runs it, Les Kanack.

"It's kind of neat. This gentleman has lost both of his legs, but he still manages to come in everyday of the week and runs the community garden," he

Library grant

By RANDY FRANK ANP Staff Writer

The Canton Township Public Library has received a $40,000 federal grant to buy an on-line card catalog system.

The system should be in place by late November.

The system will allow library patrons to browse through the collections of all 60 libraries in the Wayne Oakland Library Federation, including Canton.

The library will maintain the traditional card catalog for about one year so library members can become familiar with the automated catalog.

The grant, the largest in the area, will cover the installation and one year of maintenance on the system, according to Library Director Jean Tabor.

An additional $2,000 will be needed for office furniture to accompany the 16 new computer terminals and printers.

"We're very grateful to re-ceive the grant," said Tabor. State Sen. Robert Geake (R-Northville) and state Rep. James Kosteva (D-Canton) supported the grant proposal. The user-friendly system, called GEAC, will enhance the capability and lessen the response time to find a book title, according to Tabor.

Sponsors prepare for hunt

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER Belleville City Editor

When Belleville launched its Streetscape Phase Two last month, Mayor Glenn Silvenis issued an invitation for "sidewalk superintendents" to visit downtown to observe the work.

The $800,000 project will provide decorative lighting fixtures, new concrete and decorative brickwork and replacement of existing side-walks on Main Street, between Five Points and Liberty Street. In addition, trees, benches, planters and banners are being placed in the downtown area through individual and group donations.

The Downtown Development Authority project is expected to be completed in mid- to late-

"Downtown Belleville has always been a nice area with a quaint, small-town atmosphere. However, the Streetscape will give our downtown a new look and provide an attraction for new businesses," said City Manager Robert Herron prior to the start of the project.

Both Silvenis and Herron emphasized the need for customers to continue patronizing local businesses during the construction period, and appealed to businesses to use innovative approaches to attract new customers during the next few weeks.

Responding to the call for an innovative downtown promotion, Ginger Bruder, of Miss Ginger's on Main Street; Cyndy Suliman, of Mobile Home Brokers; Janet Millard, executive secretary, Belleville Area Chamber of Commerce; Pam Brigandi, of Belle's Chicken, and Jane Vesche, of Main Street Flowers, planned a Sept. 15 treasure hunt within the city limits of Belleville.

Participants may register in advance with one of the sponsors. Registration is $10 and includes a Belleville's Buried Baubles T-shirt. The hunt will be launched at 10 a.m. at the Fourth Street Mall and end at J.B.'s Lounge, in the Belle Plaza. Prizes will be awarded to those who complete the hunt quickly and have the correct listed items.

Along with seeking the listed items, participants can also observe the progress on the DDA-sponsored Streetscape. and respond to the mayor's invitation to become one-day sidewalk superintendents.

To most students, summer school is punishment for not doing well during the regular school year.

To students in the Wayne County Alliance for Mathematics and Science program, it's a reward.

The two-week program, which ends today, takes a unique approach to math and science. Instead of working with theories, the 350 students, including 36 from Halecreek, Merriman and Wick elementary schools, were instructed in a hands-on approach at Thorne Elementary School in Inkster.

"Through learning by doing, the experience becomes more meaningful for the child," said Terrel M. LeCesne, assistant superintendent of Romulus Community Schools.

House numbers don't seem important until you - or an emergency worker - try to find a home address on a dark, rainy night.

Tax deduction cap opposed

A proposed limit on the collect an additional $7 billion in income tax rate, which is proamount of state and local deductions on federal income tax returns received a "thumbs down" from the Van Buren Township Board.

A federal law package, which was proposed to reduce the $231 billion federal deficit, would include a $10,000 cap on the amount of state and local taxes which could be deducted from an individual's federal income tax. It is estimated that annual taxes.

In registering their opposition to the deduction cap, members of the township board adopted a resolution stating their objections to t'e proposed law because "of its potential to adversely impact upon local government's future ability to adequately serve the taxpayers.'

The proposed law is said to be offered to block a proposed injected to be approximately $3 billion annually.

According to the resolution, adopted by the township board, the proposed law would create special problems for Michigan because its state and local income taxes and property taxes per person are above the national average, and the cap could limit the ability of the state. cities and townships to continue to fund even basic services with the $10,000 deduction cap would crease in the maximum federal any property or income tax.

Community center project under way

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER Belleville City Editor

Longtime Belleville resident Park Gregory had a good idea when he proposed that the park comfort station be converted into a community center - but he didn't have a new idea.

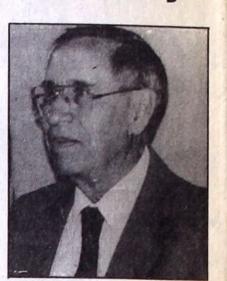

Plans to establish a community meeting and recreation center for Belleville residents have been around for at least 40 years, according to articles in the hometown newspaper of

The Victory Park Comfort Station, constructed in 1925, is currently being revamped to provide a community meeting room and a small restroom area. Gregory spearheaded the drive to provide funds for the $80,000-plus project and was a major contributor to it.

The latest conribution to the fund was a $2,500 gift from the Charles Cozaad fund, which was presented to Gregory last week by Rotarian David

Work is now being done to remove the partitions, install new windows and ceiling insulation, replace the current heating system with a new heating/cooling system and install new wiring, plumbing, floors and decorate the interior, Gregory said, adding that the project appears to be on schedule and should be completed by the contractor within a 90-day period.

In 1950, a committee of Belleville citizens recommended that a community center be built. Three local residents, quizzed by the inquiring photographer of The Enterprise agreed, with one noting, "It's about one of the finest things that could be done in the way of civic improvement for Belleville.

The committee, headed by Ray Clift, owner of The Enterprise-Roman, was assisted by Superintendent of Schools Cleveland Roe, James Wilkinson, Herb Estes, Harold Clayton, the Rev. Charles Bayless and the Rev. James Guinan. Focus of their meetings was to determine what the community needs and what facilities are available to accommodate them.

Although the idea of a community center did not become a reality in 1950, this year the ideas considered by community leaders 40 years ago will be

Robichaud, Wheatley are off to winning start at Thurston

By TOM MOORADIAN ANP Staff Writer

like to be remembered as a high school athlete, Robichaud High senior Tyrone Wheatley replied with the word: "Phenomenal'

The 6-1, 210-pound senior quarterback took a step in that direction Friday as he scored three touchdowns, one from his defensive safety slot, and he also tossed for two other TDs to lead the Bulldogs to a convincing 38-0 opening-day triumph over Redford Thurston.

It was the first meeting ever on the gridiron for the two nonconference teams.

Robichaud coach Bob Yauck was pleased with his team's first-game performance. The victory launched Yauck's 21st season as head coach at the When asked how he would Dearborn Heights-based high school and his 28th overall season in coaching.

> "It's always good to win an opener," Yauck commented. It's a morale-booster. Aside from Tyrone's efforts, I was exceptionally pleased with our defense. They stopped Thurston's running game.'

> The defense held Thurston to a total of 68 yards rushing.

In the meantime, Wheatley and company went to work. Wheatley scored his team's first of six touchdowns on a two-yarder that capped a short drive in the first quarter.

Young and bold Romulus fall to avenger Truman

The young and bold Eagles of Romulus came 62-yard dash and a nine-yarder. back from a 14-0 deficit to within a couple of point-afters at halftime but couldn't muster enough strength Friday night to repeat their upset over revenge-seeking Taylor Truman.

Truman hung on to spoil Romulus' football opener, 21-12, and avenge last year's defeat at the hands of Coach Dan Henry's club.

"I have to be pleased at the way these kids refused to quit in the second quarter after they were down by two TDs," Henry said. "They came back and made a game of it. In fact, we gambled on a couple of plays and we lost.'

Henry packs up his team and will travel to Garden City Friday night where he expects a "very physical battle." Garden City humbled what some say is the best-ever Dearborn Heights team, 22-6, in their opener.

Henry says the Eagles' defense must stop Garden City's senior tailback Brian Norris if "we are to stand a chance against them."

Norris accounted for two of the three Garden City TDs against the Chargers, who are coached by former Wayne Memorial coach Floyd Carter. Truman cashed in on the inexperienced team?

If you ask Taylor Center, which fell 28-0 to Coach Sam Villa's Tigers Friday night, Belleville is an excellent football team.

How good?

Well, Villa and the Tigers may find out Friday night when they entertain Wyandotte, a team the evening with a pair of TDs and 65 yards many pick to be the next Wolverine 'A' Conference champ. The Bruins are coming off of an impressive 52-12 victory over Taylor Kennedy.

'It will be a good test for us," said Villa, who is in his second year as head coach. "Their offense is explosive, especially their tailback, and we're going to have to stop him if we are going to have a shot at winning.

Saginaw wastes little time with Inkster High

It wasn't as if he had not been forewarned. The handwriting, after all, was on the wall when the Vikings of Inkster arrived

Romulus bows to Chiefs, 66-37

By TOM MOORADIAN ANP Staff Writer

After watching New Boston Huron bury his Eagles 66-37 in their 1990 basketball opener, Romulus Coach Tim Cullen knows he is in for a long year.

"It was disappointing," Cullen said as he attempts to regroup and prepare his club for a tournament at Grosse Ile. "If there isn't a dramatic improvement over the next few games, we are looking at a season where we may be lucky if we win one."

New Boston, the three-time Class B district champ, showed little mercy. The Chiefs, behind Janet Hughes' outstanding all-around performance, leaped to a 18-7 first period advantage and never looked back.

Romulus trailed by more than 25 (37-12) at the half, and the Eagles were not a factor the rest of the game.

In more ways than one, Coach Dwight Hotchkiss and the Vikings of Inkster were forced to sweat it out before they surfaced with an opening night victory over Pontiac Northern.

With the temperatures inside the gym hovering near the mid-80s, Inkster held on to win a 51-58 victory to launch the 1990 girls' basketball campaign.

'It was more like playing in a sauna bath than in a gym,' said Hotchkiss. "And, despite the heat, I felt we did a lot of things right. In fact, I am pleased with the first-game performance of my club.

Forced to shuffle in new reserves about every three minutes, Hotchkiss and the Vikings trailed 15-14 after the first period. Then, with Leatrice Scott showing the way, Inkster outscored their host 13-9 in the second frame to go up 27-24 at the half.

At no time did either teams manage to built up more than a five point advantage throughout the rest of the game.

The heat took its toll on both teams. In the second half, Inkster increased its lead to 38-34 but Northern refused to quit. The hosts came back within a bucket, but a key rebound by Latonya McMillan and a basket by Tawana Green moved the Vikings out of danger.

Scott finished the game high 11 points and Green chipped in 10 points. McMillan accounted for 13 rebounds and swept the boards on both sides of the Simple guidelines help conserve costly gasoline

The crisis in the Middle East does not appear as if it will go away, and as time goes along gasoline prices are sure to increase even more.

Prices now range from $1.20 to $1.25 per gallon for regular unleaded, and that is at the self-serve island.

There are some steps, however, that motorists can take to lessen their gasoline usage.

Experts at General Motors Corp. recommend the following:

• Don't purchase high octane gasoline unless specified in the owner's manual for your vehicle. Most vehicles require a "87" octane, luxury cars like Cadillac's require "91" octane.

• Keep tires inflated to recommended pressure. Soft tires cause vehicle "drag" and increase fuel consumption.

• Turn off the engine when sitting idle for more than a few minutes.

• Drive at a steady speed to the extent possible. Avoid sudden stops and "jack-rabbit" starts.

• Don't pump the accelerator.

Don't "ride" the brakes.Drive at posted highway

To keep cool, use the air conditioner for freeway driving, but shut it off and open the windows at lower speeds. The fuel economy trade-off between the drag of open windows versus using the air conditioner is even at about 50 travel distance and time.

These tips are similar to those which automobile company officials offered in the mid-1970s during the gasoline crisis.

Horseless buggies are exhibited

More than 200 "horseless carriages" will be on display at Greenfield Village for the 40th Annual Old Car Festival Sept. 8 and 9.

Automobiles, commercial vehicles, motorcycles and bicycles built no later than 1929 will be featured in one of the oldest and most prestigious car shows in the country, planners said.

Chalmers, Duesenberg, Grabowski, Maxwell, Overland and Pierce Arrow will be just a few of the nameplates represented.

of the nameplates represented.

Parades and demonstrations will allow visitors to see these vehicles in action.

"Our festival is one of the few places in the world where visitors can still see a good showing of early cars in motion," said Randy Mason, curator of transportation at Henry Ford Museum and Greenfield Village. "This event gives the public a chance to find out what motoring was like in the days of steam-powered cars and crankstarting."

In conjunction with the show, more than 24 pre-1915 vehicles will make the trek from Lansing to Dearborn in an event simulating an early automotive endurance run.

Henry Ford Museum and Greenfield Village are located at Oakwood Boulevard and Village Road in Dearborn, just

Ferraris dominate auction

Ferraris were in the spotlight Saturday for the 20th annual Auburn '90 collector car auction in Indiana.

A 1985 Ferrari 288 GTO, considered one of the most desirable cars ever built, reached bids in excess of $1 million. The car had 4,800 miles on it.

Older Ferrari entries included a 1961 250 GT Pinin Farina, a 1964 330 American, a 1965 330 GT 2-plus-2, a 1966 330 GT, and a 1966 GT 2-plus-2. Newer models available included a 1986 Testarossa, a 1987 Testarossa and a 1989 348 TB.

Motor festival slated for fall

September 23 will mark the 1990 Autumn Motor Festival at Domino's Farm World Headquarters.

The fourth annual event sponsored by the Domino's Classic Car Collection, will gather enthusiasts from the area.

Those who wish to enter cars in the show may do so by calling 668-7319 or 995-4258.

Prizes will be offered in the following categories: best of show overall, first runner-up overall, second runner-up overall, ladies' choice, gentlemen's choice, kids' choice, longest distance traveled, oldest driveable car and best car club participation

The public is welcome to attend the event.

The Suzuki line

The 1991 Suzuki product line features (in clockwise order) the new four-door Sidekick sport utility vehicle, the Samurai sport utility vehicle, the Swift GT high-performance subcompact, the Swift GA three-door hatchback, the Swift four-door sedan, and the two-door Sidekick sport utility vehicle. These cars and all the 1991 models will be featured in the Oct. 11 auto premiere section in the Associated Newspapers. ANP file

Lower level twilight zone

Alright, so rational, thinking intelligent people don't believe this stuff.

OK, so maybe we should have known better, but it really sounded like a good time. Yeah, well perhaps the Shaklee products display and the water purification systems for sale should have tipped us off, but we were foolhardy and desperate for adventure.

What we found was a selfproclaimed psychic and tarot card reader in the basement of a VFW Hall. Not to be daunted by the untimely intervention of logic or clear thinking, my sister, brother-in-law, spouse and I each plunked down our $10 ($11 if you wanted a souvenir tape recording of the session) and got a 30-minute peek at our future. While waiting, you could shop for the aforementioned Shaklee products, various canned goods, power-infused crystals and other psychic paraphernalia. You could also watch the 20 or so other fools handing over their cash awaiting a turn with one of the four "readers" available that day.

Personally, I was already packing for my expected trip to England, discounting the discord my spouse and I were sure to soon experience due to the presence of some Scorpio interfering with our relationship. And, I was eagerly anticipating the great sums of money I was soon to be spending on redecorating my home. I'd be able to afford all this as I'm going to receive a promotion at work and a big raise. Ooooh boy, I could hardly wait.

That is, I WAS looking forward to all this until my dearest brother-in-law began to describe what our mutual psychic reader had predicted for him. He is going to have a relationship with (you guessed it) a Scorpio woman and my sister is going to get so upset she's going to get even with him by spending lots of money on redecorating. Does any of this sound familiar?

He, too, is going to receive a promotion at work and take a trip "over a large body of water"

He forced me to admit that our reader did look exactly like Whoopi Goldberg and that she told us nearly the same things. Although he is going to have an out-of-body experience and meet someone who is already deceased. I'm going to be notified by phone of an accident or illness requiring the hospitalization of a loved one.

My sister didn't get any remarkable news whatsoever except that she has a long wait before the arrival of grandchildren. That was very big news to her as she became a grandmother more than two years

Whoopie Wanna-be was the brunt of much of our family humor until this week when my oldest son phoned to tell me he had been carted off a golf course by the local EMTs after being hit in the head with by a renegade golf ball. It took me two days and one sleepless night to admit that this was Whoopi's prediction come to pass.

I'm afraid to ask my brotherin-law who he may have bumped into lately, but since then, I've been keeping a close eye on my husband and giving every Scorpio woman in the vicinity dirty looks. I also phoned Whoopi and ordered $200 worth of Shaklee products.

Without any psychic powers at all, however, I can predict great success for this dessert.

Good nutrition

Makes Learning Easier

hen it comes to eating, some children are as finicky as a cat. While it can be quite a task to get them to eat nutritional food, making a nutritious lunch is just as important as trying to balance the types of food they eat.

"When making a child's lunch and trying to have it be nutritious – a lot of this has to do with a well-balanced diet," said Catherine Young, clinical dietitian at Annapolis Hospital.

This can be accomplished by providing some variety in the lunch.

"Instead of regular sandwiches, my kids like it when I use pita bread. This way you can make sure they are eating some grains and by adding some vegetables, they are getting some extra fiber," she said.

In place of candy and cookies, Young suggests raisins for a snack. "Some of the dentists might not like

"Some of the dentists might not like this, because of the sticky stuff on the kids' teeth," Young said.

A popular snack for kids are fruit roll-ups, but Young doesn't feel there is enough mutrition in this snack.

"Unfortunately, a lot of people think fruit snacks are good for their children. That really isn't a good source of fruit. Real fruit is much better," she said.

Parents should also buy juice boxes made of real fruit juice, Young said.

Today, a lot of companies have

Today, a lot of companies have come out with nutritional lunch packs already prepared. If the lunch pack contains crackers and cheese or peanut butter, they are good for kids, Young said.

Another nutritious addition to a child's lunch is yogurt. Young cautions against sending yogurt unless it is placed in a lunch box that can keep things cold.

If provided with a well-balanced diet children should not have to count calories. "Children usually burn off what they eat, so they shouldn't count calories," she said.

Children also shouldn't take the same thing in their lunch everyday.

"Too many kids, they like one thing - maybe it's a bologna sandwich they take five days a week. They need to try other things," Young said.

Most children will prefer a cookie over a vegetable or a piece of fruit, but fruits and vegetables can be made to look more appealing to children, according to Young.

She suggests adding peanut butter and raisins to a piece of celery, called bumps on a log. Also adding cream cheese on celery or other vegetables can be more appealing to kids

Most of all, she recommends avoiding foods which contain a lot of sugar.

The following recipes can be prepared ahead of time and frozen for convenience.

Peanut butter blitz

3/4 cup peanut butter 1/3 cup unsweetened applesauce

1/4 cup raisins

Dash of ground cinnamon

8 slices whole-grain bread slices. Seal, label and freeze,

In a bowl stir together peanut butter, applesauce, raisins and cinnamon. Spread peanut butter mixture on four slices of bread. Top with remaining

Juice of 1 lemon 2 sticks margarine, softened 2 cups confectioners' sugar 2 eggs 1 large can crushed pineapple,

1/2 pint heavy cream 4 tablespoons sugar

1/2 teaspoon vanilla

drained 3/4 cup pecans, chopped 1/2 cup maraschino cherries, chopped 1/2 cup chocolate syrup

Stir melted margarine into graham cracker crumbs. Line bottom of 9x13x2-inch pan with mixture and chill until needed. Halve bananas lengthwise. Sprinkle with lemon juice and let stand. Beat 2 sticks margarine until creamy. Gradually add confectioners' sugar and eggs. Beat together for 5 minutes. Spread over graham cracker crust. Arrange bananas over filling and cover with drained pineapple. Whip cream, flavor with sugar and vanilla, and smooth over fruit. Sprinkle with pecans and cherries. Drizzle chocolate syrup over all. Refrigerate and store chilled.

Vacations are meant for puppies

By BARBARA WILSON Managing Editor

The combination seems almost unbearable. Two adults, a Honda Civic, a 30-pound dog and more than 1,000 miles of open road. If the two adults and the puppy are in the right frame of mind, the trip can actually be quite pleasant.

Not every dog is equipped to handle such a long drive, but most can be gradually trained to accept the inconveniences of the trip.

Area animal experts recommend that the animal be gradually acclimated to long car trips. Start by taking your pet on jaunts to the store, or to a park. Gradually work the animal up to two- or three-hour stretches in the car.

Such exercises may be futile for some dogs as they are just not "good travelers", experts

It is best not to force your pet into a long car trip when they prefer not to be in the car. Doing so will make the trip agonizing for the animal as well as its human companions.

For dogs that are slightly "antsy" about the trip, a mild sedative can be prescribed. The drug sometimes takes an hour to take effect, so be prepared for the wait.

It is also recommended that the animal not be given food during the trip. Water breaks, however, especially on hot days are a good idea.

It is also important to stop frequently to allow the animal to run and stretch. These roadside breaks are 30-pound puppy - none are the worse for wear.

Maxine, a mutt, is a "cosmopolitan" sort of pup, and she enjoyed the 1,000-mile jaunt to the East Coast.

She stood proudly at the window, nose planted firmly into the rushing wind (or airconditioning vent). The only problem - most of the 13-hour car trip was spent with Maxine on the lap of whoever cared to sit in the passenger seat.

No sedative was needed for adults, the Honda Civic and the Maxine, who wanted to enjoy every breath of country air.

> The tips about eating, however, were unsuccessful. When we went through the drive-thru windows of various fast-food restaurants, Maxine was quick to order a burger and fries to go. She enjoyed them thoroughly. She didn't turn green or any-

To this day, Maxine is anxious to rush into any open car door hoping for another exciting journey - or another trip through the drive-thru.

Maxine spends one of her rest breaks in the trunk watching passersby. ANP

Someone Is Taking Lots Of Money Out Of Your Checking Account.

Your Bank.

At Standard Federal, we think that you — not your bank should take money out of your checking account. So we have low minimum balance requirements and no checkwriting fees, no matter how many checks you write.

As the chart shows, our minimum balance requirement for free Regular Checking is just $250.00. That's lower than the average of five other major area banks. They also charge you more — and we save you more — if you dip below the minimum. And we offer you a variety of other ways to enjoy free checking, too.

The bottom line: The most you can pay annually for Standard Federal Regular Checking is $36.00. Our five competitors' average fees are $177.60. What more can we say?

Plenty. We offer free ATM use at over 150 locations including select Standard Federal branch offices and participating 7-Eleven stores. And right now, we'll pay you up to $10.00 for your unused checks from another bank when you open any checking account with us - Regular, Interest-Bearing or Money Market.

Start getting your money's worth from your checking account. Switch to Standard Federal today.
